Recognitions and One-Minute Announcements by Councilors

Recognitions and One-Minute Announcements by Councilors

Councilor Sciarra recognized Northampton Fire Rescue Chief Duane Nichols, who announced his retirement this week after 32 years of serving with the Northampton Fire Rescue Department. Chief Nichols comes from a family that has served public safety in Northampton. They wish him a very happy, well-deserved retirement and thank him for his service and leadership, particularly in helping shape the department into what is now Fire Rescue. She offered sincere congratulations and said he will be missed.

Councilor Maiore mentioned that Florence Night Out is happening again this year for the second year. Organizers close down all roads in Florence Center for this wonderful community event and it is not too early to get involved. Individuals and businesses can volunteer as an underwriter, sponsor an art space or contribute food. Anyone interested in participating is encouraged to email Florecenightout@aol.com. The event will take place June 6, 2020.

And, Councilor Quinlan invited everyone to join him Tuesday, February 25th at 6 p.m. at Edwards Church for an event about the past, present and future of public education. It is a conversation on public education when the world's on fire and a commemoration of the work of Jackson Street retiring principal Gwen Agna hosted by Vijay Prashad, both Ward One residents.

Communications & Proclamations from the Mayor

Communications and Proclamations from the Mayor

The Mayor updated folks on the status of the Town Hall meetings he's been holding around the city, thanking community members who have come out for the six Town Halls he has held so far. Two more are scheduled, one on Wednesday, February 12, 2020 at the Ryan Road Elementary School and the next on Monday, February 24th in Ward 7 at the Leeds Elementary School. Information to be presented is on the city's website along with other information such as a tax calculator, news stories, etc.

The Mayor also announced that next Wednesday (February 12, 2020) at 10:30 a.m. city officials will hold a special workshop at the senior center. Principal Assessor Joan Sarafin will talk about

	some of the many property tax relief programs offered for Northampton seniors and veterans. Councilors may recall that, back in December, when administrators brought forward the order to place the Proposition 2 and ½ override on the March 3, 2020 ballot, they also brought forward expansions of the existing tax abatement programs for seniors. The workshop is an opportunity for both seniors and veterans to learn about various programs and their eligibility requirements.

Charter Review

Recommendations
- for referral

Charter Review Committee Recommendations - for referral

Councilor Sciarra prefaced the item by stating that the discussion will be on the referral and not on the recommendations themselves.

She is requesting a public hearing to give the public another opportunity to weigh in on the charter change proposals, Councilor Sciarra explained. The former chair and vice chair of the Charter Review Committee (CRC) have said they would be happy to come and give another presentation. Her hope is that the presentation will be part of the public hearing in Legislative Matters (LM). Once LM closes the hearing, it will give its recommendation and the charter change proposals will come back to the full council for deliberation. The council will be voting to authorize the Mayor to request the state legislature for a special act to amend the charter.

In LM, the committee will discuss an appropriate time to have a special meeting to discuss the recommendations since the next agenda is fairly crowded, Councilor Dwight advised. All of the new councilors showed up to many of the CRC meetings and so are already somewhat familiar with the proposals, he noted.

Councilor LaBarge moved to refer the Charter Review Committee recommendations to LM. Councilor Dwight seconded.

Councilor Jarrett asked if the City Council would have the opportunity to refer the recommendations to other committees.

They could do that now, Councilor Dwight confirmed.

Councilor Jarrett threw out the question of whether input from other boards should be solicited. For example, he wondered how 16-year old voting, non-citizen voting, etc. would affect the civic engagement of the community and so wondered if Community Resources or the Human Rights Commission might be engaged. And, some of the changes are election-related, so he suggested the possibility of referring proposals to the Board of Registrars. Also, City Services is involved in the filling of vacancies on boards and changes are proposed to the way vacancies are filled on the School Committee, Community Preservation Committee, Forbes Library Trustees and Oliver Smith Will, so he cited these committees as other potentially interested parties.

Invitations were extended to all standing committees with thoughts and notions about the recommendations and Clerk Powers presented several times, Councilor Dwight related. City Services, all councilors and other committees were invited to CRC meetings, and some came. Personally, he has no problem with doing another invite, but a lot of that heavy lifting/work has already been done over the course of the last year as the CRC did its due diligence. It's worth considering, he agreed.

Councilor Nash said he appreciates Councilor Jarrett's question. He confirmed that CRC did extensive outreach, holding at least 12 meetings and changing the locations of meetings to accommodate people. He thinks at this point all of the homework has been done and that it would be proper to send it to LM. This step will be 'another bite of the apple' for people to weigh in before it goes to council. In his mind, usually when they send things to committee it has to do with proper outreach. In this case, "I think we're safe" that outreach has been accomplished, but it's a good question.

Councilor LaBarge echoed Councilor Nash's comments. "I think this charter committee really stretched out and did a tremendous amount of outreach," she confirmed. She agreed it should be referred to LM and then come to council.

It is appropriate for all those representative bodies to participate in the conversation if they feel so inclined, Councilor Dwight agreed. The CRC had 19 meetings and they will have two public meetings here as well. Part of the frustration in the process was that sometimes it was not very well participated in, he acknowledged. The meeting at Jackson Street school was the best attended with the most amount of energy. There is no clock ticking. To be honest, he thinks this had more public vetting and participation than the original exhaustive charter change. He is not adverse to any interest they can garner, anyone who wants to participate and any mechanism used, he stressed.

After hearing from fellow councilors, Councilor Jarrett said he felt comfortable with just referring it to LM. He likes the idea of inviting committees to the public hearing, he shared.

Councilor Foster said she respected the spirit of Councilor Jarrett's proposal to include as many voices as possible. What really excites her about the recommendations is that they will really expand opportunities for participation. She feels comfortable that the process was broad and inclusive and, because many of the recommendations are aimed at making municipal government even more broad and inclusive, she also feels comfortable with it going to LM.

Creating another opportunity to bring the public in and have a public discussion among the council was precisely the reason she wanted to hold a public hearing, Councilor Sciarra volunteered. There is no legal requirement for a hearing, she noted. She called the motion to a vote and it passed unanimously 9:0 by voice vote.

Councilor Sciarra reminded members there is no discussion on the consent agenda unless an item is removed for separate consideration. She reviewed the items on the consent agenda, noting that she would like to remove the minutes of January 16, 2020. Councilor Dwight moved to approve the consent agenda with the removal of the minutes of January 16, 2020.  Councilor Foster said she is still forming her thoughts and didn't expect it to be a financial order to hit her so hard, but she just thinks this is amazing. Several years ago her family served as a temporary foster placement for a 4th grader, and one of the reasons was that they had the ability to transport her to her home school every day. She saw firsthand for about six weeks how difficult it was for her to be in a temporary placement but being able to go to her home school was one piece of the puzzle that helped her through that very difficult time. To see this brings home that this touches real people's lives. She's glad to see it on the agenda and glad to see it moving forward.
 The motion passed unanimously 9:0 by roll call vote.

19.137 An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 312 Vehicles and Traffic [to delete handicapped parking space on Pleasant Street - in parking lot off Gleason Plaza] - 2nd reading

This ordinance passed in first reading on December 19, 2019. The council has automatic carryover of pending ordinances, so it is before the new council for the first time. Since they have new members, Councilor Sciarra read the ordinance aloud.

The management of the Depot lot has changed, and the city now has an arrangement with the lot owner to lease a portion of it, Councilor Nash explained. Under the new arrangement, the private property owner manages the parking lot 24/7 so there is no longer a need for ordinances regulating a portion of the lot. What they are striking here is actually the language related to the Depot lot; they are not eliminating a handicapped parking space, he stressed. The parking lot under private management has seven or eight handicapped spaces. They are removing the last vestiges of language related to the city's management of the lot from the Code of Ordinances, he clarified.

Councilor Dwight moved to approve the ordinance in second reading. Councilor LaBarge seconded. The motion passed unanimously 9:0 by roll call vote.
